

Nothing But Net

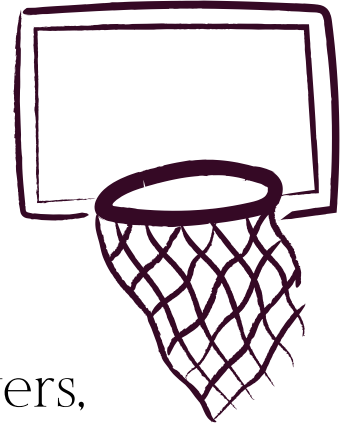

March Madness is upon us, and it's time for you to draft your fantasy basketball team!

You may choose world-class players from any era, position, and any designation (collegiate or professional).

Nothing But Net

After your team has chosen their players, discuss the following questions:

- Of the five players you selected, how many of them were women?
- Can you think of any other areas in the media, marketing, or pop culture where bias is pervasive?
- What actionable steps can individuals and organizations take to create environments that are more aware of and resilient to biases?
